Polish students learn Jewish history

Nearly 40 schools participated in Poland's first Jewish history program.

The Foundation for the Preservation of Jewish Heritage in Poland, which organized the "To Bring Memory Back" program, celebrated 120 students' efforts at Warsaw's Nozyk Synagogue on June 18.

The program aims to encourage young people to discover the region's multicultural past and restore the memory of its prewar Jewish inhabitants.

Taking care of local Jewish cemeteries is an integral part of the program.

The children delve into the history of Europe's largest pre-World War II Jewish population through acting, writing plays, poetry and filmmaking.
